Falmouth Christian Church presents live nativity

The youth and other members of Falmouth Christian Church performed a live nativity portraying the birth of Jesus Christ on December 13-14 in the church lawn on West Shelby Street in Falmouth. Looking Back

25 Years Ago

December 26, 1989

The high of three below zero and a wind chill of minus 30 below caused numerous problems in the area. Many residents had trouble starting their cars, along with water pipes freezing, telephone service out and heating problems.

The weather outside was frightful with a wind chill factor minus 50 below on December 21, but inside the Falmouth Fire Department firemen, their wives and the Ladies Auxiliary worked to fill boxes with toys for the children.

Trooper Jim Dolwick from the Dry Ridge Post 6 drew the lucky name from the Shopper's Dream entries. The lucky winner was Leona Owens of Falmouth.

Pendleton County Wildcats extended their season record to 7 wins and 2 losses with an 83-75 victory over the Grant County Braves. Because of disciplinary reason the Wildcats played without seven varsity members. The new Pendleton County lineup turned in an outstanding effort, topped by Larry Wells with 23 points. Gary Barnard and Butch Hays both hit 16 for the winners. Eddie McKinney had 13. Sophomore guard Conley Thompson, starting his first varsity game, joined the double figure club with 10 points. Barnard, running at the other guard spot, played a flawless defensive game and came up with numerous steals. Ron Bingham turned in the best individual performance of any Wildcat opponents this year.

The District 4-H Tobacco Sale was held at Lebus Warehouse in Cynthiana, with nine Pendleton County members selling their crops of tobacco. Attorney General discusses propane complaints and energy tips

By Jack Conway

Last winter, many Kentuckians who rely on propane to heat their homes and businesses exhausted their propane supply amid a nationwide shortage, soaring propane prices, and frigid weather conditions.

Despite shortages, the majority of propane companies worked with their customers to make partial deliveries or provide them waivers to receive propane from another supplier, which Kentucky law requires. However, this wasn't the case for all Kentucky propane users.

Many customers filed complaints with my office when they became frustrated at the record-high prices, the inability to get propane, or the antics of their propane company. Donald Shepperd of Calloway County was one such customer. Shepperd went without propane for two weeks, but he faced an even bigger issue with his bill when his propane company incorrectly charged him for the propane he received.

"After the office of the attorney general got involved, I received a credit to my account," Shepperd said. "I'm thankful someone listened."

Shepperd's story wasn't unique. My office was inundated with more than 200 phone calls from propane customers encountering similar problems. For instance, Robert Mutter of Barren County received an incorrect billing statement that was nearly triple the amount of what he had already purchased on a pre-paid contract.

"The office of the attorney general worked quickly and efficiently to provide us with the appropriate information to get this matter resolved," said Denise Strader, who assisted her father, Mr. Mutter, with filing a complaint. "Within a few weeks of contacting the attorney general, my parents were credited back what they were overbilled."

This season, colder-than-normal temperatures could cause propane shortages across Kentucky once again. State energy officials are already encouraging consumers to fill their propane tanks early, sign up for automatic delivery and enroll in payment plans to help avoid a late-winter run on propane.

My office of rate intervention and I are also reminding propane customers that there is a protocol in place allowing them to secure propane even if their supplier is unable to provide it. Know that under Kentucky law, consumers can receive a waiver to seek propane from another source if their supplier does not have the supply on hand. Even during a propane shortage, companies still have a responsibility to take care of their customers who need access to propane to heat their homes and run their businesses.

Conserving Energy

As your attorney general, I've worked hard to stop more than $1 billion in proposed rate increases by utility companies. There are also actions you can take as a consumer to cut down on utility costs this winter. By making a few minor adjustments to how your family uses energy in the home, you can save money on your monthly bill.

- Turn down your thermostat as much as you can and still remain comfortable.

- Turn off lights and appliances when not in use. Consider shutting doors and vents to rooms when they are not in use.

- Replace incandescent bulbs with fluorescent or LED bulbs. Installing energy-efficient lighting is one of the fastest ways to cut your energy bills.

- Understand and reduce as much phantom load as possible. You can cut phantom energy loads by unplugging home office appliances when not in use.

- Consider performing an energy audit on your home. Home energy audits pinpoint inefficiencies in your home's heating and building structure. Contact your local electric and/or natural gas provider to ask if they have energy-saving programs or provide energy audits to customers.

- Weatherize your home. Inspect windows and doors for air leaks and look for gaps around pipes and wires, foundation seals, and mail slots.

Visit energy.ky.gov and EnergyStar.gov for additional tips on how to properly weatherize your home.

Kentucky families experiencing hardship and struggling to heat their homes may also be eligible for financial help this winter. For more information on available assistance, I encourage you to contact the following agencies:

A big, meaningful star

A 10 foot star sits on the edge of our property overlooking Highway 27 as it winds north toward Alexandria. Visible for a half mile, it appears to be in the center of 27 as a traveler passes Keith Belcher's, but then the road curves slightly and a traveler sees plainly the true location. It is lit nearly every evening during December for two to three hours, sometimes more, hopefully reminding travelers of the star that appeared to the shepherds in the Judean Hills over 2000 years ago.

But this star has some history that makes it a bit more meaningful to my family. When we first moved to Pendleton 22 years past, Pennie Pelfrey said that she would like to see a big star somewhere on our hill. A couple of years later, Robbie McClanahan built the star of which we speak and we placed it in a metal pipe that had, at one time, held up a television dish, not one of the small ones but one several feet across, a big one. In the mean time we had planted some white pine seedlings and gradually they began to eclipse the star.

So, we decided to hang it in a large tree at the end of our garden, a tulip poplar which raised it above the pines, but this procedure lasted for only one year and the pines continued their growth to the point that a traveler was able to see the star for only a hundred yards or so. We, then, asked Jeff Cornett, who was living in Falmouth, to build a solid structure below the pine trees with a lot more visibility. He poured some concrete, used some treated lumber and erected the star as seen today.

Each year when the young and old of our extended family congregated at our house for Thanksgiving, we would go over the hill to the star, sing a couple of Christmas carols and flip on the star. Kind of a tradition in the Collins family. Sort of like the Hallmark commercial a few years past where this father would walk alone to the top of a hill, with a lantern in hand and snow flying about his head, to read a Christmas card from his daughter who had moved to the city. The card alluded to the fact that she and her father always came to this apex when she was home...on Christmas Eve. The commercial signs off by saying, "For all of those who want to send the best."

Therefore, this star is meaningful. More so now in that Birdie, my dog, and I frequently take our exercise walk thru the pines and stop at the star to reflect on the day and other matters. It is sort of our inner sanctum: just Birdie and me and the star.

Tonight on the Kelly File on Fox News, she interviewed Franklin Graham concerning the assault on Christmas, noting that Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania was now calling it "Sparkle Day" and atheists in New York were buying advertisement on billboards ridiculing the celebration of Christmas as the birth date of a so-called god. Dr. Graham responded that we can't pray in public school any longer...no Ten Commandments in the courthouse...humanists and secularists are pushing our Christian God out of government...(Remember Friedrich Nietzsche and his declaration that the last man standing would be concerned only with creature comforts and fornication.) Christians need to stand up for our faith, according to Billy Graham's son.

Dr. Graham said that Evil was behind this lurch to the left in relation to morality and sin, and that the United States is moving as a nation toward a judgment day with God.

Birdie had gone past the star a few paces. She came back to where I was and sat watching me as if to say, "I understand in my doglike way!" I was on my knees! A Christmas carol kept going thru my mind. I sang it as best I could:

*O star of wonder,
star of night,
Star with royal beauty bright,
Westward leading,
still proceeding,
Guide us to thy perfect light.*

Lights are flickering and the halls are decked

Flickering lights shimmered in the breeze hanging from trees, light poles, porch eaves and buildings as I drove around my hometown last week.

It is such a heartwarming sight to see the efforts made both by our city staff and individual property owners to raise people's spirits during the Christmas season. For me the warmth generated within by the beautiful decorations helps to make my hopes swell watching to see the goodness and kindness that so many exhibit during the season.

Many years ago I wrote a song called "Let's Live Every Day Like It Was Christmas."

The sentiment for me still rings true today. Wouldn't it be wonderful if the charity and good will that we see shown in the weeks around Christmas were part of our lives each and every day?

I have been blessed to know so many people in every walk of life, rich and poor, well known and unknown, mean-spirited and generous beyond measure.

I have seen some of the greatest of charity come from those who have the least to give.

I have seen some of the kindest actions given by those who are otherwise detestable.

Each year I watch countless individuals gathering toys to change the lives of children in our community. I saw my parents do this time and time again trying to encourage families who needed more than we did.

I have watched our church family gather to provide Christmas dinner, gifts and food and supplies to hundreds of families that would otherwise have a less merry season.

I see people smile more; they stop to open a door for someone with an arm full of packages, or allow another driver an opportunity to go before them.

Now that is not to say, there aren't those who selfishly push their way around the season trying to get what they want without consideration for others. Many times, unfortunately, these folks do live that way all year around.

It would not only be nice to live every day like it was Christmas but to remember that the greatest gift shared with us during the season was God's love for all of us through the gift of His son, Jesus Christ.

Peace, love for one another and hopes for a greater tomorrow is within our grasp, if we only strive for it within our own lives, our own families and our own communities. When we put them all together, wouldn't the world shimmer in the glow of Christmas lights that each of us might hang to raise spirits.

Citizen comments on school board meeting

Dear Editor,

Pendleton County Board of Education member Shawn Nordheim asked a number of questions regarding the monthly financial report. Some of the questions were answered, but others required research outside the meeting.

Superintendent Strong suggested, "board meetings would run more smoothly if questions regarding the finances, especially, were submitted in advance by phone or email."

I now quote from the Kentucky School board leadership guide. "Individual board members have no authority outside of legally called board meetings - only when the board gathers as a corporate body do the members have the ability to take action on behalf of the district."

To clarify the above quote, when the board is not in official session a board member has no more authority than anyone in the district.

Obviously I cannot speak for Dr. Nordheim but I assume she may feel it might be unethical to submit questions in advance of the official board meeting. After all per the guide it would seem she has no authority or compulsion to do so.

There is also the issue of "transparency" and I am of the opinion that Dr. Nordheim is dedicated to this issue of transparency by asking all questions and making all official comments when the board is in open session. (Not in executive session)

Superintendent Strong stated (according to the article) "certain statements made in Dr. Nordheim's blog require clarification."

I have read some of Dr. Nordheim's blogs and she makes it clear that the items in the blog are her opinions and her's alone. As a private citizen when writing a blog it would seem appropriate that Dr. Nordheim has the right to "free speech."

I often use a cliché - "there is a fine line between encouragement and intimidation." My hope is that conversations between the board and administration do not bleed over into intimidation - to do so in my mind would be a bad example for the students of Pendleton County Schools.

Nasty trash in nasty weather

Dear Editor,

On a very cold and wet November 1, Falmouth Wesleyan Church picked up trash on Highway 330 to Godman Road. Not only was the weather nasty but the trash we collected that day was also. Numerous liquor bottles, fast food restaurant wrappers and cups, empty cigarette packages, pop cans, along with all kinds of other garbage, was gathered up that day by our workers. A total of 25 garbage bags were filled. We can do a better job at keeping all roads litter free. Let's all do our part!

Sincerely,
Sheila Turner

NJROTC Cadets assist in trash cleanup

Dear Editor,

On October 25, 2014 the Pendleton county NJROTC unit participated in a "highway cleanup" that reached from the Campbell County line all the way to Highway 22. Approximately 10 miles of highway were cleaned with 42 cadets and chaperones. Approximately 89 bags of trash were filled. The cadets broke into multiple groups of four or five, with one chaperone, spread all across the ten mile distance. The unit departed the high school at 8:10 a.m. and worked for about three and a half hours. The cadets worked very hard to help keep this county clean. They are all very proud to be able to say they try their best at helping, and so am I.

Sincerely,
Lucidious M. Witt
Commanding Officer

Business & Career Expo/Reality Store held

By Roger McKinney, Reporter

The Kentucky Career Center held a Business and Career Expo at Pendleton County High School on the morning and afternoon of December 5, 2014. The event took place in the gymnasium. Approximately 15 businesses participated and over 600 students visited the Expo.

The event gave businesses the opportunity to show students what type of jobs are available to them after high school and what they need to do in order to prepare for those employment positions.

The event was supervised by Kentucky Career Center Director JoEllen Mitchell, Workforce Investment Act's (WIA's) Employer Service Liaison Douglas Beard and Career Development Counselor Tim Quiggins.

BB's sponsored a Business and Career Expo game that involved the knowledge of facts pertaining to the participating companies. Prizes equaling $200 were given to the students with the best set of answers.

In addition to the Business and Career Expo, on the same day, at the same time, in the Pendleton County High School Auxiliary Gymnasium, Reality Store was being conducted. This Reality Store was the 18th Annual Reality Store. The event was sponsored by North Family Resource Center, South Family Resource Center, 4-H and Pendleton County Community Education. Costs of the event were shared equally by the sponsors.

Reality Store requires 50 volunteers to occupy tables or booths about the gym floor. Each booth represents a sales station where the students may purchase services: savings booth, retirement, communications, grocery, health and beauty, furniture, utilities, chance booth, insurance booth, candy booth, IRS, loans-college graduation, entertainment, housing, contributions, child care, transportation, clothing and supplemental income.

Students were given a certain amount of money to purchase services and were expected to budget accordingly. The purpose of Reality Store is to show students what type of financial decisions they will face after high school. It makes the students aware of what they must do in order to achieve their life goals.

Before the students left Reality Store they filled out an evaluation form responding to what they had just experienced.

King sends letter to Santa Claus

Dear Santa,

My name is Aaron Keith King, I am only 1 1/2 years old. I am the son of Jason King and Jackie Parks of Robbins Ave. in Falmouth. I have been a very good boy this year (even tho my mommy doesn't think so). I want every toy out there, if you have plenty. I would also like for you to bring my family some presents too. For my mommy she could really use a bottle of nerve pills. (I think I get on her nerves sometimes, then again it could be my dad). Could you bring my daddy a pickup truck so he can haul my toys around for me. My Uncle Nelson could use a drivers license. (My mamaw is always saying she wished he had a drivers license). For my Aunt Emilee would you please bring her a muzzel (she really gets on my mamaws nerves cause she never shuts up). For my Uncle Travis he could really use some Christmas Spirit if you have any left (I know there's a lot of Grinch's out there). Uncle Ty could use plenty of hand soap (make sure it is the gritty kind cause his hands is always black with grease). Could you please bring my Poppa D a new fishing pole (mamaw says he has way too many but I know it would make him really happy). Now for my mamaw, she is a very good person and loves me so much, so I would like for you to bring her gold and diamonds. And for the rest of my family, just bring them what you have left over, they won't care.

Love,
Aaron
P.S. I will leave milk and cookies if daddy doesn't eat them all.

BBB offers helpful tips about holiday scams

'Tis the season for scammers and schemers! Whether it's on the internet, at the store, or at your very own front door, BBB warns to "watch out" for these holiday scams.

Gift Card Schemes - Hand-held scanners and smart phones give thieves the tools they need to snag the information off the gift card as it hangs on the rack. The thief periodically calls the 800 number listed on the back of the card to verify it has been purchased and activated. Once activated, the thief uses the gift card to make online purchases. Only buy gift cards that are secured behind customer service desks, or cards with protected scratch-off security codes.

Gift Basket Shams - You receive a phone call from someone claiming they have a package to deliver. A deliveryman arrives with a basket of flowers and wine. Since the gift contains alcohol, he asks you to pay a $3.50 "delivery charge" via debit or credit card. As proof the package was delivered to an adult. Excited, you don't think twice about handing your card over for payment. Several days later, you find unauthorized charges on your card.

Package Theft - With more and more people shopping online this time of year, the BBB is warning people not to leave unattended packages on their doorsteps. Thieves have been caught on camera walking right up to houses and swiping packages. Police believe the criminals follow delivery trucks into neighborhoods. Have the package sent to your workplace or to a neighbor who is home.

Suspicious Social Media Giveaways - Be wary of any giveaways or raffles on social media! They often advertise the season's hottest gifts. The offers solicit likes or shares to get distributed on social media feeds. They often direct you to a survey site and ask for personal information or a mobile number.

Counterfeit Retailer Websites - Beware of websites that offer "too-good-to-be-true" prices on hot holiday items. They may appear legitimate, but they often send inferior merchandise - if they send anything at all. Many are just trying to steal your personal information. Look for a working customer service number or a brick and mortar store, and use a credit card to dispute the charges.

Fake Santa Websites - Dozens of websites are registered in Santa's name, offering kids a chance to email Santa. Some of these sites are not trustworthy. They ask for personal information. Some may even contain "naughty" content. Check the site, twice, before you let your child get on the website. Be sure the site is only asking for information like a first name, and email address. Santa already knows where you live!

Malware E-cards - Email greeting cards may appear to be from a friend or associate but actually contain a link that will download malicious software onto your computer to steal personal information.

Charity Schemes - Scammers will call you on the phone or knock on your front door. They'll wear seasonal outfits, dress in familiar looking uniforms, and carry forms of identification that look real. They'll convince you to give with stories that tug at your heart. Before you give, do your homework. Check out the charity at www.give.org. Avoid "charities" whose representatives won't answer reasonable questions, such as how the money will be spent. Never supply credit card information over the phone, and never give cash or write checks payable to an individual solicitor.

iPad Scams - iPads are one of the hottest ticket items this holiday season, and many name brand stores have sold a limited supply. This gives scammers the opportunity to take advantage of consumers. Some con artists run ads for cheaply priced iPads, or consumers are told they will receive a free iPad after purchasing additional products. In reality, they never receive any of the items. Other consumers take a quiz to receive a free iPad and then unknowingly provide personal information that signs them up for services they never purchased. This leads to identity theft.

Holiday Rentals - Traveling for the holidays? Scammers post fake rentals asking for consumers to wire money for deposits on listed properties. The property doesn't exist and not only is the consumer out the money of the deposit, but they have nowhere to stay. Ask for pictures and phone numbers of recent renters. If the price is extremely low, take this as a red flag and look for somewhere else to stay.

Attorney General cautions Kentuckians to give wisely this holiday season

As Kentuckians generously open their pocketbooks and wallets for those in need of a helping hand this holiday season, Attorney General Jack Conway wants to make sure your charitable donations do not end up in the hands of scam artists.

"Much like storms and natural disasters, the season of giving brings out the best and worst in people," Attorney General Conway said. "Scam artists and dishonest or fraudulent charities not only take advantage of the kindness of others, they deprive reputable charitable organizations of crucial resources needed to help provide clothes for a child or food for a struggling family. If you plan to give to a charitable organization over the holidays, gather as much information as possible to make sure the charity is not a scam and that your donation reaches someone in need."

Attorney General Conway and his Office of Consumer Protection ask that you keep the following tips in mind if you choose to make a charitable donation this holiday season:

- Donate to charities you know and trust. When possible, take the time to verify the address, phone number, and additional contact information. Consider a charity's history, purpose, track record, and reputation.

- If you are contributing over the Internet, make sure that the website you are visiting belongs to a legitimate, established, and registered charity, and that the website and the charity match. Also, make sure the site is secure and will offer protection for your credit-card information.

- Be cautious of sound-alike charities and solicitors unable to answer questions.

- Where possible, make donations by check or credit card rather than cash.

- Beware of unsolicited email requests that appear to come from a legitimate charity. These requests may actually be phishing scams designed to gain access to passwords, credit-card data and personal information.

- Don't be pressured into making a donation.

- Ask for identification and written information when you're approached in person.

Attorney General Conway also encourages Kentuckians to utilize his office's charitable giving database to research a charity before making a donation. The database at ag.ky.gov/civil/consumerprotection/charity lists which charities have registered with the Office of the Attorney General.

Consumers also have the ability to find out what percentage of their charitable donation actually goes to the charity and what percentage goes to a paid solicitor. Websites such as CharityNavigator.com and the Better Business Bureau's (BBB) Give.org can also provide you with information about a large number of charitable organizations.

If you are the victim of a consumer scam, help is available by contacting the Office of the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Hotline at 1-888-432-9257 or by visiting ag.ky.gov/civil/consumerprotection.

Mayor Alice Smith honored at Butler City Council meeting

Butler Mayor Alice Smith was presented with a Kentucky Colonel certificate at the December 1 meeting of the Butler City Council. State Representative Tom McKee visited City Council to wish them Merry Christmas and to present Mayor Smith with her certificate.

Other business conducted by the Council was as follows:

- Fire Chief David Marquardt reported new air packs have been received.

- Police Chief Ken Hale reported 70 calls.

- Signs in front of Perrin's house stating it as loading zone to be removed.

- Two council meetings scheduled for December 11 concerning sewer project and camera project.

- Donation to be made in memory of Shane Rose.

- Swearing in of new council scheduled for Monday, December 29.

Give the special gift of time

Giving a great gift or donating money to a great cause is part of the holiday season, but dropping a ton of cash may not really make you feel better.

Giving the gift of time can actually be more rewarding, not only for you, but the recipient as well.

Sometimes the best gift you can give a friend, neighbor, loved one or great cause close to your heart is something much less tangible - your time.

This year, make the effort to give of yourself, not just cash or big presents under the tree. Visit your elderly neighbor and offer to do a chore for them, offer to babysit for a couple who has young children, host a movie night at your house for neighbors or deliver a home-cooked meal. For grandparents, forego the usual toys and instead plan a trip or event with each of your grandchildren where they have your undivided attention. It doesn't have to be a big event or some far-away place to make lifetime memories.

Yes, we are all feeling time-constrained more than ever with our jobs, families and holiday shopping. Slow down, take a deep breath and give the gift of your precious time this holiday season.

You'll be surprised by the joy and true gratification that you'll experience.

Sophomore Youth Leadership Initiative students hear presentations on Judicial Day

By Hailey Wiggins

In late November the 2014-15 Sophomore Youth Leadership Initiative students met for Judicial Day. Students met with Family Court Judge Barbara Paul, Circuit Clerk Mike Redden, County Attorney Jeff Dean, and attorneys Gwen Pollard and Abby Voelker. These ladies and gentlemen shared what role they play in the community, who inspired them, and what leadership skills they utilize in their careers.

Following presentations, students asked questions in an open discussion forum over law and types of cases these ladies and gentlemen deal with on a daily basis. The Judicial Day answered many questions for those considering a career dealing with the law.

Attorney Gwen Pollard stated, "Passion is key when looking for your career path."

Sophomore Leadership students and teacher Michelle Lustenberg, would like to thank all of the presenters and Angela Hornbeck for helping to make this day possible.

College Goal Kentucky provides help to students

College Goal Kentucky, which provides free help to families applying for college financial aid, will take place starting in January 2015, at sites across the state. Specific addresses and building locations can be found at www.KASFAA.com/CollegeGoalKY. Dates and start times will vary by site, so attendees are encouraged to confirm specific site details by following this link. All attendees will be eligible to enter into a drawing for a chance to win one of four $500 scholarships that can be used at any Kentucky school.

At College Goal Kentucky sites, financial aid professionals from Kentucky will help students and families complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). The FAFSA is the form students must submit to receive federal and state student aid.

College Goal Kentucky is sponsored by the Kentucky Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators (KASFAA). It is funded by USA Funds, with additional support from KHEAA and KHESLC.

"This is a premier event that provides Kentuckians with both informational and financial resources to reach their postsecondary educational goals," said KASFAA President Kristie Hughes. "With the assistance of the financial aid experts at College Goal Kentucky, students can submit the FAFSA in a timely manner, enabling them to qualify for thousands of dollars in financial aid, including a variety of grants and loans."

Demand continues to rise

According to the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA), participation in state aid programs has more than quadrupled since the 1990s. In the 2013-2014 academic year, KHEAA disbursed $207 million in higher education grants and scholarships to nearly 95,000 students. Students who file the FAFSA in January have the best chance of receiving these funds.

What to bring
Students are encouraged to attend College Goal Kentucky with a parent or guardian. They should bring their and their parents' completed 2014 IRS 1040 tax returns and any other 2014 income and benefit information. If families have not completed their taxes, they are encouraged to bring their 2013 IRS 1040 tax forms and last paycheck stubs from 2014 so that financial aid professionals will be able to show families how to use estimated information to submit the FAFSA and how to go back and update their information once taxes are completed. Everything else - pens, pencils and FAFSA worksheets - will be provided.

For more information about College Goal Kentucky, call toll-free, 1-888-4-KASFAA (1-888-452-7322) or visit www.KASFAA.com/CollegeGoalKY.

The College Goal Sunday program was created by the Indiana Student Financial Aid Association with funding from Lilly Endowment, Inc., and with supplemental support from USA Funds.

Wildcats notch pair of wins

By Sam McClanahan, Reporter

The Pendleton County Wildcats basketball team rebounded from an 0-3 start to score a pair of wins last week over Lloyd and Nicholas County.

Pendleton County overcame an seven-point half-time deficit at Lloyd last Tuesday, Dec. 9, to win its first game of the season, 72-64.

Four Wildcats reached double-figures as Hunter Wood paced a balanced scoring attack with a team-high 18 points. Tanner Pugh added 13 points while Hunter Lea chipped in with 12 points and seven rebounds, and Mason Den- nie poured in 11 points. Pendleton County attempt- ed a season-high 45 free throw attempts and converted 36. Lloyd shot just seven of 15 from the charity stripe.

"I was pleased with our effort," said head coach

Keaton Belcher. "We beat a tough, gritty team on the road to get our first win. Several players stepped up and we got contributions from 12 players tonight. I think that speaks volumes about our depth. It was encouraging to see how well we shot from the free throw line as that turned out to be the difference in the game."

The Cats followed up an impressive road win with an even more convincing performance last Saturday, Dec. 13, at Nicholas County. Pendleton County raced out to an early 10 point first quarter lead and never looked back as they scored a 93-73 victory. Michael Antrobus busted out of an early season slump in a big way as he poured in a game-high 31 points. Antrobus drilled four three-pointers and knocked down nine of 10 free throws. Eighth grad- er Dontaie Allen provided a spark off the bench with 18 points and six rebounds while Robbie Gaskins added 11 points and Wade Brown- ing finished with 10 points. Hunter Lea dominated the post with a game-high 16 rebounds. The Wildcats shot 53 percent from the floor (17 for 32) and knocked down 13 of 28 three-pointers.

"I was pleased with our effort for 32 minutes. I chal- lenged our kids to move the ball on offense and set bet- ter screens, and for the most part we did a good job in those two areas," said Belcher.

Last night, the Cats looked to extend their win- ning streak with a home match-up versus an unde- feated Augusta squad. Results were not available at press time. The Wildcats will host Ludlow at 6 p.m. on Thursday, Dec. 18, and will conclude the week with a Saturday evening, Dec. 20 showdown at Bracken County. Tip-off is slated for 7:30 p.m.

"The more difficult the victory, the greater the happiness in winning."

Ladycats fall to Bourbon

In their only action of the past week, the Ladycats traveled south to Bourbon County to play the host school in the 5/3 Classic. They fell 70-59 in the high scoring affair to fall to 1-3 in the young season.

Coach Scott Collins is still recovering from gall bladder surgery and has yet to make his debut on the bench. Varsity assistant Bobby Hoover has been guiding the Ladycats.

"We got off to a great start against Bourbon Coun- ty but have to learn to finish the game," coach Hoover commented about the loss.

The Cats jumped out to a 9-0 lead and lead after a single quarter 15-4.

Bourbon County was able to pound the boards claiming 20+ offensive rebounds and getting second and third chances at the bas- ket to get back into the game.

McKayla Bishop had a great game with 24 points, 10 rebounds shooting a hot 10 of 13 from the field. McKayla Manor nailed two 3-pointers for 10 points and Isabella Hall ran the floor with 9 points and 6 assists.

The Ladycats hosted Augusta Monday night but Junior McKayla Bishop attacks the basket against Wil- liamstown in a recent Ladycat game. With her 24 points against Bourbon County, McKayla has tallied 994 varsity girls basketball points and will look to surpass the 1,000 point mark on Monday night, December 15 versus Augus- ta.

results were not available at press time. They will be the second game of a Wildcat/ Ladycat doubleheader versus Ludlow on Thursday, December 18. They will host Paris on Monday, December 20. Junior Varsity games starts at 6 p.m. fol- lowed by the Varsity.

Archery takes 6th in first team competition

Throughout the season, the Pendleton County Archery program had been competing in 10 meter individual competitions as they looked to gain experi- ence as a first year program.

Last Friday, Dec. 12, they competed in their first team competition at Wil- liamstown that also threw a 15 meter round in the mix.

Coach David Myers was really pleased with his team's first experience with both formats. The team finished 6th out of the 10 high school competing teams.

"These kids are doing absolutely outstanding!" he said about his first year pro- gram.

Drake Pierce continued his strong shooting with a 281 which placed him 5th out of 80 archers in the high school division.

Makayla Bennett was the leading archer for PCHS scoring 276 and fin- ishing 7th out of 97 archers.

Evan Schneider fired a 256 which earned him 19th out of 208 middle school boys and Kirkland Brannen shot a 250 to place 28th out of 194 middle school girls.

Pendleton County Bowling falls to Boone Co.

"It was a tough week against Boone County as they had some high scores against us," coach Gary Pol- ley pointed out on his team's recent match versus the Rebels.

Bowling, like golf, archery and cheerleading, there is no defense to stop the opponent. If they score higher than you, they simply score higher as you can- not switch from a man defense to a zone defense to stop them.

And that is what Boone County did rolling several scores over 200 and ran away from both the Wild- cats and Ladycats to claim the 7-0 victory.

Jonah Smith was pretty consistent as usual with a 146 and 156 with Trevor Colvin posting the high score for the year and flirt- ing with a 200 round him- self. He rolled a 186 for the team season high.

On the girls' side, Chy- ann Utz was high Ladycat with a 132 and 124 game while Brittany Strass made her first appearance and rolled a 103.

Give the gift of the outdoors this holiday season

Catalogs, emails and commercials touting must- have gifts this holiday sea- son fill our mailboxes, flood our inboxes and splash across our television screens as the biggest shopping weekend of the year approaches.

Amid the avalanche of gift ideas, there are some guaranteed to please the outdoors enthusiast on your list.

Consider a gift certi- cate from the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. Avail- able online at fw.ky.gov, it functions much like a gift card. Recipients have five years from the date of purchase to redeem it online for licenses and permits, Kentucky Afield magazine subscriptions, Otter Creek Outdoor Recreation Area passes or summer camp registration fees.

For the avid hunter- angler, the Sportsman's license offers a considerable savings compared to purchasing licenses and per- mits separately. It bundles a combination hunting and fishing license, statewide deer permit, spring and fall turkey permits, state migra- tory game bird-waterfowl permit and a trout permit at a cost of $95. A Junior Sportsman's license for Kentucky residents ages 12-15 includes a youth hunting license, two junior deer permits and two junior turkey permits for $30. The new license year starts March 1, 2015.

While visiting Kentucky Fish and Wildlife's online home, check out the Ken- tucky Afield store. There, you can find some of the same apparel worn on the television show hosted by Tim Farmer, and find information if you're interested in purchasing past episodes. The deer process- ing DVD is good for new and experienced deer hunt- ers alike.

Kentucky Afield maga- zine publishes four times a year and new subscribers can sign up online or by mail.

The cover of every issue features original artwork by Rick Hill. Inside, readers will find the pages packed with feature stories high- lighting some of the best hunting and fishing oppor- tunities in the state, tips for a better day afield and the latest news from the Ken- tucky outdoors.

The popular Kentucky Afield Outdoor Calendar is included in the price of a magazine subscription. At 32 pages, the calendar fea- tures breathtaking images of Kentucky as well as use- ful information about pro- posed hunting dates, stock- ing information for Fishing in Neighborhoods (FINs) lakes, hunting and fishing tips and more. Since the 2015 calendar has already been printed, those who subscribe now will receive the 2016 calendar in December 2015.

The 2015 calendars will begin mailing to current subscribers within a week. Individual copies of the 2015 calendar will be sold online for $7.50 and remain on sale while sup- plies last.

A visit to the Salato Wildlife Education Center can spark a child's love of the outdoors, as can a week at one of Kentucky Fish and Wildlife's conservation camps.

Located on the campus of Kentucky Fish and Wild- life headquarters in Frank- fort, Salato Wildlife Educa- tion Center affords visitors the opportunity to view some of the animal species that call Kentucky home and learn about their native habitats.

The center closed for the season on Nov. 27 and will reopen March 3, 2015. Annual memberships rang- ing from $20-$50 are avail- able by calling Kentucky Fish and Wildlife at 1-800- 858-1549.

Conservation camps are open to Kentucky students in grades 4-6 and a Junior Sportsman's license is included with the $230 registration fee.

Help foster the develop- ment of future sportsmen and sportswomen in Ken- tucky by sponsoring a camper through the Ken- tucky Fish and Wildlife Foundation. Letters written by children wishing to attend Camp John Currie, Camp Earl Wallace or Camp Robert C. Webb are posted on the foundation's website at kentuckywildlife. com. Different sponsorship amounts are accepted.

The foundation also sells 75-quart Orca coolers for $469.99 as a fundraiser for camp scholarships. It generates enough through each cooler sale to send a child to camp.

As these ideas illustrate, picking out the right gift at holiday time doesn't neces- sarily require fighting the crowds or spending hours running from store to store. It's all about knowing where to look.

94-95 Ladycats honored for District titles

The 1994 and 1995 Ladycat Basketball teams were honored by the 2014-15 Ladycats for the 20th anniversary of their back-to-back 38th District Championships. The 1994 Ladycats won their district title with wins over Deming and Bracken County while the 1995 Ladycats beat Bracken County in the first round and ran away from Deming in the championship game. From left: Pendleton County Superintendent Anthony Strong, Heather Adams Cordray, Brandy Oaks Chamblin, Brook Oaks Anderson, Kellie Dennie Grisik, Heather Courts Ashcraft, 1994 Varsity coach Julia Stiles Alwell, 1995 Varsity coach Keith Smith.

Pendleton County Alumni Night, January 2

Starting in the 1960s through mid-1990s, there was a major rival for Pend- leton County. When a bas- ketball was tossed for tip- off of a Pendleton County versus Bracken County basketball game, it was sure to be a tightly contested game with the wooden bleachers packed with loud fans yelling for their team and at the officials.

In the midst of holiday and gathering with family this holiday break, there is a chance to remember those days as Pendleton County High School will be hosting Alumni Night at the Ladycat and Wildcat basketball games versus old 38th District rival Bracken County.

Ladycat Varsity will play in the main gym at 6 p.m. versus the Lady Polar Bears with Junior Varsity to follow in the auxiliary gym.

Wildcat Varsity will play in the main gym at approximately 7:30 p.m. versus the Polar Bears with Junior Varsity tipping off at 6 p.m. in the auxiliary gym.

The PCHS Alumni Band will be the Pep Band. Don't miss out on this opportunity. You can get involved through the PC Alumni Band Facebook page.

Mark your calendars and don't miss out on this great night to catch up with old friends and sup- port today's Ladycats and Wildcats.

The seventh grade team chose their coach David Tackett. The eighth grade Ladycats chose Princip- al Rhonda Moore. Mrs. Moore said, "In my career I have been slimed, silly stringed and received the gift of a pie in my face. This time I have come prepared." At that point she climbed into a giant garbage bag, put a shower cap over her head and covered her eyes with goggles. The pies in the faces spectacle brought about great joy in the viewing audi- ence and a very good time was had by all.

BERLIN BAPTIST
We invite all to come and worship with our family of believers. Sunday services begin with Sunday school at 10 a.m., morning worship at 11 a.m. and Sunday night services are held at 7 p.m.

This past Sunday Brother Dan's message was taken from Matthew 3:1-12 and titled "We need repentance before we can receive the gift of God's salvation."

BLANKET CREEK
This week's message, "What makes a great church" was taken from Acts 4:32-34.

You need a purpose for going to church. You go to receive a blessing. Some find those blessings in the musical instruments, in singing, and some want to hear a powerful message. We go to pray for Salvation and learn how to find it so we can be saved and lead others to Jesus. People like this are what make a powerful church. We need workers in the field to make the church great. Some have not found their place in the church yet. Pray asking God what you can do for Him in the church you serve. We need to be consistent and wait upon the Lord. Do you have a purpose in your life? If you aren't sure you can find answers in God's word.

We will be going Christmas Caroling December 17, and our Christmas program will be at 6 p.m. December 21. Please join us.

We added Joe Tomlinson, Tom Askins, Scott Collins and the family of Shane Rose to our prayer list.

BUTLER METHODIST
Pastor Brian spoke about "Getting ready for the Lord to come". Are you ready? We don't know when this will happen, so be prepared.

Thanks to all who made the Moravian Love Feast so special, especially Nancy.

There will be a Christmas Eve service here at the church on the 24th at 7 p.m.

Come to see the Kirsch Live Nativity out on Hwy. 10. The weekend before Christmas is when the live animals and family will be presenting.

Praises were proclaimed for Dana receiving some great news, for the beautiful sunshine we had on Sunday, for Jeff's test result, for the ladies Christmas party at Ressies, for the Davis family trip to W.Va., and for Jim's safe trip.

Prayers were requested for the Schehr family, Frank, Mary Ann's nephew, the Wainscott family, the Wiggins family, Parker family, Kathy Jones, Lois Stull, and all those who need God in their lives.

God be with you till we meet again.

CHAPEL OF PRAISE
Our morning message centered on Jesus being the object of the believer's faith. Our scripture readings were taken from Philippians 2.

When we place Jesus at the center of our lives, He can make a paradise out of a wilderness; bring water out of an empty well. We can have sweet assurance knowing that all is well regardless of the calamity that is taking place world-wide.

The Psalmist said that some trusted in chariots and others in horses, but the saints will remember the name of the Lord our God. We can step out on faith each day with no worries or regrets when Jesus is our focal point.

FALMOUTH BAPTIST
Merry Christmas from the Falmouth Baptist Church! May we all remember the true meaning of the season.

We began our time of worship by celebrating the believer's baptism of 9-year-old Thomas Muench. Kellie Wolfe read scripture and Kristen Wolfe and Morgan McKinney sang "Something in the Water" in honor of Thomas' decision to accept Jesus Christ as his Lord and Savior. We are so proud of all these fabulous young people.

Bro. Cohen asked, "Are you living for Christ or just living?" In Romans 6 we learn that God's grace trumps all sin. We are and will be forgiven, but we should be practicing daily not sinning. We need to become slaves to Christ and His righteousness - living a godly life.

Keith Sammons, lifelong friend of Bro. Cohen, accompanied by JayDee Miller presented an amazing concert Sunday night. What a blessing!

Christmas Eve candlelight service will be at 9 p.m. Come join us.

FALMOUTH CHRISTIAN
Brother Rick's message was from Luke 1:26-38 titled, "Christ Birth Announcement."

God sent the angel Gabriel to Mary, and he said do not be afraid, for God has decided to wonderfully bless you. Very soon you will have a baby boy, and you are to name him "Jesus." He will be very great and will be called the Son of God. There is only one God, and His kingdom will never end.

Christmas Eve service will be December 24, 2014 at 7 p.m. Keep Christ in Christmas.

Pray for the sick, those who have lost loved ones, our military, our country, the lost, and those on drugs. Blessings to everyone.

FALMOUTH WESLEYAN

Sunday's Christmas cantata was beautiful! Many people came out to hear our choir sing the songs of the Christmas season and a narrative of the historical events leading up to our Savior's birth. A Christmas feast followed the service!

We welcome anyone looking for a church home to join us. If you are looking for a deeper relationship with God and searching for ways to be better used of Him, we may be the church for you!

We have Sunday school for ages two and up! We have wonderful, dedicated Sunday school instructors. SS starts at 10 a.m. worship service starts at 11 a.m. evening service begins at 6 p.m.

If you want to get deeper into the word of God, we have a Bible study Wednesday evenings at 6:30 p.m.

Need to spend time in prayer and communion with Jesus? Thursday eve-

"She will give birth to a son, and you are to give him the name Jesus...."

~ Matthew 1:21

nings at 7 p.m. we share in the sacrament of the Lord's supper.

FIRST BAPTIST
Love and blessings to everyone! Our 2nd Advent candle of the season, The peace candle, was lit by Jeff, Stephanie, and Cameron Auchter. Abram Crozier blessed us with special music.

Bro. Harry's message, "The Peace of Christmas," was taken from Luke. What is peace? Peace is an inner calmness that we have when Christ is in our hearts. With God all things are possible. There is peace for all if we give our problems to God. He is always with us and will give us peace, if we let Him in.

Please pray for the lost, the sick, those who have lost loved ones, our community, our country and its leaders.

Our shut-in of the month is, Velma Steele. Her address is 4672 Hwy 159, Falmouth, KY, 41040. Send her a card to brighten her day.

"No God, No peace - know God, know peace!"

MORGAN CHRISTIAN
Our hymn of praise "Go Tell it on the Mountain" was led by Kelly Maxedon, assisted by Destiny, Levi and Josie.

Burnt Popcorn was the topic today for Children's Moment. Kathie had a bag of burnt popcorn and a bag of good popcorn. She did not read or follow instructions for the burnt popcorn but followed directions for the good popcorn. She told the children this is what happens when they do not listen to their parents or teachers. Children joined hands and Cole Fultz led the congregation in the Lord's Prayer.

Duke Wilmes spoke on Curiosity and Christianity. Shepherds and wise men were curious about the star in the east. They followed the star to Bethlehem for Jesus' birth. People may be curious about our Christianity and be led to Christ.

MT. MORIAH
The second Sunday of Advent is about Peace. The Russell sisters, Donna, Marsha and Julie lit the candle of peace. Scripture reading was from Philippians 4: 4-9. Our message was a message of remembrance of Pearl Harbor and Peace. Our world was under attack that day. Our world is under attack today by demonic forces. Christian soldiers need to start fighting. We are being robbed of peace, hope, and joy. Pendleton County has more drug & alcohol addicts per capita than any other county in Kentucky. We need to be at war against this demonic force. II Timothy 2:3-4 says we are all called to be soldiers.

We added many to our prayer list this week including, Mrs. Fields, Lincoln Meyer, Julie Stevens, those dealing with addiction in their families.

Join us for Sunday school at 10 a.m. service at 10:45.

NEW HOPE
Christmas is about lights. It is not the lights on people's houses or the lights on a tree. Instead it is about the light of the world coming from heaven. John 1:1-5 In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. He was in the beginning with God. All things were made through Him, and without Him was not anything made that was made. In Him was life, and the life was the light of men. The light shines in the darkness, and the darkness has not overcome it. The greatest light that the world has ever seen came to this earth 2,000 years ago and that is what we celebrate this time of the year.

NEW ZION
Come join us for worship and Christian fellowship. Sunday school begins at 10 a.m., morning worship is at 11 a.m. and evening worship starts at 6:30 p.m. The CrossFire Crew meets on Wednesday's at 6 p.m.

Upcoming opportunities: 8 p.m. December 31, there will be a New Year's Eve Party (don't forget to get your music request to Mickey).

Luke 2:11-(For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.)

Please remember in prayer John Thomas, Tina Cochran, Roz McClanahan, Logan, Dalton, Mable Fields, and the Bishop family. Also remember to pray for our country and its leaders.

OAKLAND CHRISTIAN
What a blessing we have had this past weekend with our "Walk Through Bethlehem." We had 316 come through our "city".

Jordan McNabb, our youth/associate minister brought the message of the morning, "All I Want for Christmas is JOY".

Our choir is presenting its musical, "It's the Most Wonderful Time of the Year" on the morning of December 21. That afternoon, our church will be caroling throughout the community.

Prayer concerns include Mable Fields, Kenneth Harper, Judy Youngblood, Scott Collins, Norma Colvin, Larry Clemons, Eli Stahl, Margie Logan, Pat Ray, Woodie Smith, Lowell Thomas, Barbara Singer, RoseMary Ramsey, Blanche Cannon, Dan Pence, our shut-ins, armed forces, and our leaders. Our sympathy goes to the loved ones of Phil Wiggins, Janet Bishop, and Betty Lou Jones Jessie.

PLEASANT RIDGE
Happy Birthday Bro. Rick.

Bro. Rick's message was on the origin of Satan.

Two out of every three Americans don't believe in Satan.

Some believe he is just a symbol of evil. If we deny the existence of Satan we fail to be on guard against him. Satan had to be created because God created all that is. Colossians 1:16 says for by him were all things created, that are in heaven, and that are in the earth, visible and invisible.

God is concerned with how we can be saved. Satan is not important to God. Satan has authority over the lost and unsaved. He wants us to deny Christ and give him the honor. He seeks whom he can devour. He is opposed to everything that is God.

James 4:7 says to submit yourselves to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you.

Evening Bible Study 6 p.m.

PINE GROVE
Preliminaries of our worship hour included Brother Ron reading scripture from Luke 1:26-38, the lighting of the peace Advent candle, the partaking of communion and a duet rendered by Melanie Redden and Debbie Schwarberg.

Brother Ron delivered his message on the angel appearing to the Virgin Mary relaying to her that she had been favored by God and would give birth to a son she would name Jesus. When Mary questioned this, the angel replied, this will be made possible by the Holy Spirit.

To our prayer concerns, we added the families of Howard Brock, Janet Bishop, and Phil Wiggins.

During the following week, our youth will be preparing for our Christmas program to be presented on Sunday morning, December 14. Our U.M.W. will make baskets to take to the shut-ins in the community. They will also be helping the resource centers with their needs for the youth during the Christmas season.

TURNER RIDGE
"Thanks be to God for His unspeakable gift." 2 Corinthians 9:15, this is the scripture that the Choir's Cantata "Celebrate the Gift" was based on, and that is exactly what we did Sunday morning.

Before the Advent candle was lit the choir sang Joy in This Place, and the Harris Family then lit the candle of Joy. Bro. Dale explained during the children's message of the joy that filled the wise men when they saw Jesus shortly after He was born.

Preston Wright read scripture, Luke 2:10-11 and then the Turner Ridge Choir blessed us with their Christmas Cantata, the morning was a celebration of the gift!

If you don't have a church home please come join us for worship.

Freeing your closet from clutter

Decluttering your closet is a liberating experience. Life begins to feel more manageable and your clothing and shoes are better suited to who you are now.

If tackling all of the closets at once is too daunting, set aside a firm two hours each week and clear one room's closet at a time. Start by getting four large boxes. Label them keep, throw out, donate and not sure.

If you are afraid you will throw out something mistakenly, use clear plastic bags and clearly label each. Be tough but give all family members a chance to decide what goes and what stays. Start at the top shelf and work your way down. Take everything off the shelves. When everything is off the shelf, dust and wash the area.

Put the clothes you have not worn for a while but still like in the not sure area. Near the end of the two hours, ruthlessly get rid of as many items as you can. Getting rid of extra clothes allows your clothing staples to breathe in the closet instead of being packed in tight. Think of the ironing time you will save.

As your throw away box or bag fills up, take it to the garbage can right away so you won't be tempted to root through it again. As the donate box or bag fills, put it in the trunk of your car. The idea is to get the clutter out of your house for good.

When your closet is empty, clean the floor and walls. As you add clothes back to the closet, collect them in colors to save you time in the morning when you are getting dressed. Use shoe racks or an over-the-door shoe container and sort the shoes according to color too.

Separate everyday clothes from work outfits.

Then promise yourself that if something goes in your closet, something else will go out. If you follow this rule, you should never have to have another closet-cleaning marathon.

To learn more about getting rid of clutter and organizing closets, contact the Pendleton County Extension Service.

Holiday blessings and Gloria goes granola

The Amish Cook
By Gloria Yoder

This year we enjoyed being able to spend Thanksgiving Day with my husband's family in Ohio. The ladies did an excellent job preparing a hearty Thanksgiving meal of turkey, mashed potatoes, gravy, dressing, salad, and of course, Mom's pumpkin pie.

There are so many things that have filled me with joy and given me reason to be thankful. Primarily I stand in awe and gratitude to God for sending Jesus, the Savior of mankind. With Jesus we have a reason and purpose to go on in life, even when facing hardships and trials. And yes, we do have an extra reason to rejoice this Christmas season with a newborn son in the house!

Austin is doing well and growing like a weed. He's gaining a pound a week. He rapidly outgrew his newborn sleepers and is already filling up the next size. Besides some tummy-aches and occasional earaches he's doing great. My sisters and mother have been a tremendous blessing these last days. They're excellent with babysitting or helping with my housework.

Julia seems to be adjusting well to her baby brother and is quite protective of him. When he starts waking up and squirming around, Julia is quick to notice and inform me that he needs to be picked up.

"Mom, mom, the baby! The baby is awake!" she says excitedly. Julia is my helper in many little way and she's had lots of fun helping me open cards and gifts. I want to thank readers again for all the thoughtful cards and letters celebrating the arrival of Austin.

Talking about Julia reminds me there's something else that she's been very excited about: my husband Daniel purchased a tiny calf that was only several days old. It was delivered to our house one evening after dark. It was snowing lightly when Daniel carried it up to the front porch where Julia and I could get a good look at it. It was as black as the night. "What about calling her midnight?" I asked Daniel. Yes, of course, it fit perfectly for a black little calf that arrived at night.

You can guess what is now Julia's favorite part of chore-time. Daddy does a wonderful job in patiently bundling her up and taking her with him to give Midnight his bottle.

Daniel enjoys working with calves, that is, if they're healthy and thriving. He's already had a tough time with illness, etc with the calves he has had in the past. Midnight is quite stocky and seems to be healthy and doing well. Hopefully it can stay that way.

Yesterday I made a batch of granola. I thought maybe that would be something you'd like to try. I don't know about you but I am a granola fan. I love tasting other versions and kinds of

Liven up winter days with amaryllis

Few plants can live up a winter day like the amaryllis. The large pink, white, red, orange and variegated flowers are truly spectacular. You may have received an amaryllis bulb as a holiday gift.

A member of the lily family, the amaryllis rises from a large bulb. The growth habit makes it well suited for blooming during the colder months of the year.

Knowing about its natural habitat in Central and South America will help you successfully grow and flower an amaryllis at home. The plants are adapted to ecosystems with a long, moist growing season, followed by a shorter dry season. At the beginning of the rainy season, the bulb sends forth foliage and flowers. Although the flowers last only for two to three weeks, the foliage grows throughout the moist season during which time new flower buds form within the bulb. It goes dormant during the dry season, but resumes growth and flowers when the rainy season begins.

When you buy an amaryllis, it likely will be a dormant bulb. If so, pot the bulb about six to 12 weeks before you want the plant to bloom. Use a container with a diameter just slightly larger than the bulb and a potting mix that promotes good drainage. One-third to one-half the pointed end of the bulb should remain above the soil. Thoroughly water and put the pot in a bright, warm window.

Water when the soil becomes dry to the touch, but do not give it too much water because this will cause the bulb to rot. Never allow water to accumulate in the saucer beneath the pot.

In a few weeks, a flower stalk should emerge, usually before the foliage develops. Rotate the container every few days to keep the flower and foliage from leaning too much toward the light. You may need to stake the flower stalk to keep it upright in a low-light situation.

When the bloom is spent, remove the wilted flowers and cut the flower stalk back to the top of the bulb. Do not remove any foliage because the leaves continue to provide energy for the next season's flowers. Fertilize it every couple of weeks to promote healthy foliage.

If you want to keep the amaryllis and get it to bloom again next year, give the plant as much light as possible after it flowers. It will help to move the plant outdoors when the danger of frost is over, generally around mid-May. Gradually acclimate the plant to brighter light by first putting it under a tree or awning; then moving it to brighter light every few days until the plant is in full sun.

When summer is over, keep the plant in a sunny location, but withhold water. As the foliage begins to die, move the pot to a cool, dry location such as a basement or closet. In the winter, repot the bulb to a new container, again only a few inches larger than the bulb's diameter. As an amaryllis bulb becomes larger, it may produce two or even three flower spikes during the blooming period.

Sleeping through the holidays is a good thing

Battling crowded shopping centers. Purchasing last minute gifts. Party preparations. Travel arrangements. Hosting family. In addition to cheer and excitement, the holidays also seem to bring never-ending "to do" lists that often cause you to sacrifice basic needs in order to check off every task. One of the first things many people give up is a good night's sleep - not knowing the crucial role that it plays in staying healthy throughout the holiday rush.

Getting enough sleep is crucial to immune function, memory and other vital functions that keep you going. According to research published in the journal Sleep, lack of sleep can have the same effect on your body as physical stress or illness, causing you to overproduce white blood cells as if you are fighting an infection.

A good night's sleep won't grant you immunity from stress or illness, but getting the recommended eight hours of sleep a night can have a positive impact on your health and ability to successfully manage your day. Dr. Heith Durrence, a PhD in Psychology with a specialty in Behavioral and Sleep Medicine, explains that, "Maintaining a consistent sleep schedule is essential for the health of your immune system. Practicing good bedtime habits will help ensure your body is equipped to handle the busyness and stress of the holidays."

To improve your sleep during the holiday season, Dr. Durrence recommends:

* Ensuring your bedroom environment is welcoming and associated with sleep by removing distractions, keeping room temperature cool and using curtains to block unnatural light

* Developing a calming routine before bedtime, such as taking a warm bath or listening to relaxing music

* Avoiding using mobile phones and tablets before bedtime, as the LED lights can suppress melatonin levels

* Don't eat greasy, spicy or protein-filled foods before bedtime, which can disrupt digestion or upset your stomach

For some people, practicing good bedtime habits alone may not be enough. Each year in the United States, 40 million people experience sleep problems and 4 million people have chronic insomnia. While insomnia affects people in different ways, staying asleep is the number one reported problem of people with the condition.

If you think you need additional help with your sleep problems, speak with your health care provider about your routine, lifestyle and symptoms.

Managing stress and staying healthy starts at night. Practicing good bedtime habits can help strengthen your immune system so you are able to power through and enjoy the busy holidays.

Be a 'sweet' holiday host

Festive holiday parties are a winter staple. But how do you put a twist on the annual tradition? To add new flavor and excitement to your holiday gathering this year, consider incorporating a series of sweet surprises to delight your guests.

The Perfect Pairing

You're probably familiar with the concept of pairing appetizers and entrées with the perfect wines, but you may not realize that it's just as important for your sweet treats!

If you're serving a particularly sweet candy such as peanut brittle, pair it with a stout beer for the perfect complement. And if you've chosen a rich, indulgent chocolate for your guests, consider pairing with an equally bold Cabernet Sauvignon so the wine can stand up to the flavor of the chocolate.

The Sweetest Buffet

To show your guests you care, create a candy buffet and invite them to pick a selection of their favorite sweets. Not everyone has the same preferences, so be sure to offer a variety of treats including a selection of truffles, nuts and chews, and for the little ones, gourmet lollypops are always a hit!

Sweets for the Road

If you're not sure your guests will save room for dessert, consider sending them home with a goodie bag to enjoy later.

With these simple twists, your guests are sure to have only "sweet" things to say!

CARD OF THANKS

Sending Heartfelt Thanks

Rusty and I would like to thank each and everyone who have continued to show your love and support for us during this journey in life. We are truly blessed to have amazing friends and family, and we have made so many new friends. Thanks to all who came to the benefit, for the food provided by AJ's Bar-B-Q, it was fantastic, and for the awesome music provided by Hartstrings Bluegrass, Kalisla and Ky Mile. Thanks to Joe & Rhonda Dupey and their small army for making things happen, to the Dry Ridge Banquet Hall for providing us with a place for Rusty to enjoy a great time of fellowship and fun. Thanks to all who donated items for the silent auction, all the cards of encouragement we have received. Rusty loves his cards. Most of all, thank you, for the many prayers.

Feeling blessed, Merry Christmas, Rusty and Joyce Robbins 39-2fmc
